Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—After passing through a series of remarkable operations at the Hahnemann Hospital, Howard Ferris, a salesman, whose home is at Camden, S. Rev. F. N. Calvin. pastor Compton Heights Christian Church, St. Louis, was nearly blind 15 years. Several of the leading oculists of America failed to cure him and pronounced his case hopeless. Dr. Moore cured his eyes and restored his sight seven years ago.

tion was performed upon Ferris by Doctor Carl Vischer, who is connected with both the Hahnemann and St. Luke's hospitals. The operation is as unusual as it is difficult, and Doctor Vischer has received many telegrams and letters of congratulation from prominent surgeons throughout the country.

Ferris was admitted to the Hahnemann Hospital while suffering from a pleuritic effusion of the right side, the result of a critical illness from pneumonia, which he had contracted in April, 1996. Upon his arrival at the Hahnemann Hospital Ferris was operated on, and parts of the fifth and sixth ribs were removed so that the infected lung could be more thoroughly drained. This did not produce the desired result, and on August 22 the Eastlander operation was decided upon.

Doctor Vischer made an incision in Ferris's right side under the armpit and extended it within a few inches of the waist line. Then the ribs on the right side from the second down were sawed off near the breast bone and the spinal column and the ends drawn together for the purpose of closing the cavity made by the disappearing lung. The latter had become disintegrated by this time, and had almost entirely disappeared in the form of pleuritic matter.

So severe was the shock of the operation that Fessis was only kept alive by repeated infusions of saline solutions. The incision is now rapidly healing, however, and the pleuritic effusion has almost entirely disappeared. When Ferris breathes the cavity apparent from the exterior expands and contracts with each breath.

The fight started in Bostock's in Dreamland. Roger, a big elephant that almost killed a smaller one several weeks ago, tried to wrest a bag of popcorn from Tom, a comparatively frail animal, which turned on him and attacked him furiously. Roger ran out of the inclosure and up the plaza. At the end of the run he turned and grappled with Tom. The latter's head was hurt by impact with an iron post, and he rushed out to the street. Germany, England and Russia had each taken a foothold, when Secretary Hay said that the international policy should be the open door; that is, that China should be independent and free to the trade of all nations.

"After that the other Powers fell into line and advocated the same policy. By our new treaty the local taxes on goods from station to station throughout the Empire have been thrown open, and on the whole China has been made a free trading field for the world.

"Tou seem to give Secretary Hay all the credit for that work, Sensior?"

"I do," replied Senator Cullom. "Others have helped carry out his ideas, but his is the master mind as far as our diplomatic relations and successes are concerned.

"T consider Mr. Hay a very great man. He is the greatest Secretary of State this country has ever had. He has statesmanilke ability of the highest order silied to sterling courage, and the genius of common sense. He is experienced in dealing with foreigners and with nations.

"I do not. The Germans and the English both acknowledge it, and it will become more firmly established as time goes on."

OUR TROUBLE WITH MOROCCO. "What do you think of the Perdicaris incident, Senator? I mean the American citizen that the Moroccoan brigands recently captured and held until he was ransomed."

"I don't like it, and I do not approve of our method of yielding to such matters.
The great Powers ought not to be at the mercy of the forty thieves who act as brigand chiefs in the Mohammedan regions of Africa and Asia.

If their Governments cannot restrain them, if they cannot protect their own citizens and their foreign residents, they ought to be wiped out. Such things are an outrage in these days of the Twentieth Century civilization.

It may be that our action as to Miss Stone gave us the reputation of being easy to work, and that the stealing of Perdicaris was a regetition of it. I don't know, I am sure, however, that such actions should be prevented and that their perpetrators should be made examples for all the world to see.

"I should like to see Morocco cleaned up," continued Senator Cullom. "That whole North African country was for years a den of pirates which preyed upon the commerce of Europe.

"We had a war with them as far back as 1801 because we would not pay the tribute they wanted, and in 1815 Commodore Decatur brought the Bey of Algiers to Bis knees by threatening to blow his city to ruin if he made any further demands on American vessels. Indeed, the United States was the first to bring the robbers in North Africa to time.

The American Electric Signal Company of Philadelphia has taken an interest in the patent rights and will finance the project and give the invention a practical test.

"There will be double tower stations, each 200 feet high, erected in this city and Scranton. Towers 120 feet high would be sufficient to transmit messages from this city to Seranton, "says Father Murgas, "but with a height of 200 feet, which is pianned for these towers, we can communicate with Philadelphia, and I believe that the next station will be erected in that city, and an electric current established. This will prove to all the success of the system."
